

“These books are a must for anyone, lay or professional, involved with equine reproduction.”

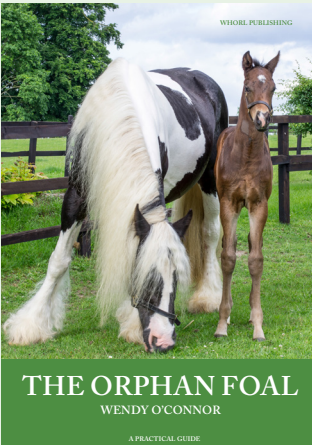

Foaling Simplified

by Sue Caldwell

Sue has been employed in the equine industry for over 35 years. She started as a student in 1980 at The National Stud in Newmarket and has gone on from there to foal mares each year, most recently at Newsells Park Stud. At the last count she had attended over 3000 foalings.

“Foaling Simplified is a book I have long recommended to students and newcomers to the thoroughbred breeding industry. It is a valuable resource for those wanting to acquire a sound knowledge of foaling and the aftercare of both the mare and foal.”

Simon Mockridge, Juddmonte Farm, Stud Director (UK)

The Orphan Foal

by Wendy O'Connor

Wendy has over 45 years' experience of working with horses, 30 years spent on studfarms and the remaining within the racing industry. Wendy is renowned for fostering and hand-rearing orphan foals and has given lectures on her methods. The skills Wendy has acquired are passed on in this book.

“The horse breeding industry will be grateful for this book. Each step of the way to a ‘well brought up foal’ is covered from nutrition and method of feeding to the fostering process and behavioural needs. Each foal is an individual and each scenario its own but knowing the methods and options available allows the best to be made of even the worst situation.”
